DEPUTY SHERIFF HELD IN DEATH IN PEKIN JAIL

Will Be Charged With Murder Of Witness Denies Charges

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—C. O. Skinner, Tazewell county Deputy Sheriff, was in jail today awaiting arraignment on a warrant charging him with murder as the result of the death of Martin Virant, a witness to a slaying, who was found hanging in his cell last Thursday.

The warrant charging Skinner with murder was sworn to by Coroner A. E. Allen of Tazewell county and State's Attorney L. P. Dunkelberg.

Virant, who was being held as a witness in the death of Louis Nelan which was reported to have resulted from a speakeasy brawl, testified at a Coroner's inquest that he had been beaten by Skinner and other deputies who had sought to make him confess complicity in Nelan's death. Virant was found hanging in his cell a few hours after the inquest.

Death From Violence

Coroner Allen was told by two Pekin doctors who viewed the body that death had not resulted from strangulation, as the hanging would indicate. Virant's body was said by them to have been covered with bruises.

The Coroner retained a Chicago pathologist who concluded his inquiry yesterday, following which the warrant was obtained and served. The Chicago pathologist, Dr. W. D. McNally, gave it as his opinion that Virant had not died of strangulation. Coroner Allen said the pathologist had reported to him that Virant's death had been caused by violence, probably inflicted during a beating.

Virant, the Coroner said, was covered with bruises, suffered a concussion of the brain, a broken rib, and other injuries.

Deputy Skinner was taken to the Peoria county jail because, Tazewell county officials said, "feeling was running high in Pekin."

Skinner has denied attacking Virant and claimed he knew nothing of the cause of death.

FOUR MEN DIE IN ACCIDENTS LATE TUESDAY

Two Unusual Disasters In Chicago Were Fatal To Four

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Two spectacular accidents took four lives and caused injuries to sixteen persons late night.

Three workmen were killed and six injured when a cable broke, permitting a bucket in which they were descending into a 135-foot shaft to fall.

One man was killed and ten persons hurt when a condemned and partly wrecked building collapsed. About 25 persons residing in the neighborhood were in the building hunting for firewood at the time of the accident.

The tunnel workers were engaged on the construction of a water tunnel which extends from a point four miles out in Lake Michigan to Springfield Avenue on the north side.

A steel bucket, ordinarily used to lift materials from the tunnel, had been pressed into service to lower the men to the tunnel level as the regular elevator in an adjoining shaft was out of commission.

Fell Great Way

Soon after the men had started down in the bucket a cable snapped and the bucket shot down the shaft. How far the bucket fell before the bucket hit the floor of the tunnel was not ascertained.

Those killed were: Joseph Mitchell, 32; William Sarvaria, 29, and John O'Brien, 35.

Wreckers started yesterday morning to tear down the building which collapsed last night. When they had left for the day, police learned, a large group of persons residing in the neighborhood began to gather kindling wood. It was thought their activities further served to weaken the foundations and walls, causing the collapse of the structure.

Kasper Shiba, 60 one of those in the building, was killed when the crash occurred. Police and firemen searched the ruins for hours in expectation of finding other bodies but finally concluded all had escaped. Some of the ten injured were found beneath the debris. Several were said to have been seriously hurt.

HORSES RETAIN TITLE

Indianapolis, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The world champion weight-pulling horses owned by the Hole Farm, Versailles, Ohio, successfully defended their title at the Indiana state fair yesterday by pulling 3,500 pounds, 24 feet 6 inches. Hoosier teams captured second and third places, while George H. Statler entries from Piqua, Ohio, placed fourth and those of Willard Rhodes, Springfield, Ill., sixth.

LA SALLE CO. PRIEST SOUGHT AS KIDNAPER OF YOUNG SCHOOL TEACHER FROM SCHOOL TUES.

Authorities Also Are Seeking Girl: Man Is "Eccentric"

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—La Salle county authorities were searching today for a 22-year-old country school teacher reported missing for the second time within a week.

Meanwhile, Sheriff E. J. Welter said he held a warrant sworn out by the girl's brother charging William Cootney, 40, described by the Sheriff as a Catholic priest at Alexis, Ill., with having kidnapped her.

The teacher, Collette Haley, yesterday started her second year as teacher of the rural school in Eagle township. Pupils reported that she left the school during the afternoon session with a man who had called her from the classroom.

The warrant charging kidnapping was issued by Justice of the Peace Frank McGrath on complaint of James F. Haley of Streator, the Sheriff said.

Miss Haley returned to her home in Streator Sunday after what the Sheriff described as an unexplained absence of several days, during which she was reported missing by members of her family.

Father Courtney was ordered to St. Theresa church at Alexis last Wednesday and assumed his post only last Wednesday. Bishop Schellman of Peoria received a letter from him yesterday, attaches of his office said. It was written last Saturday. Its contents were not disclosed.

Father Courtney was assistant pastor in Streator, then went to Buda, Ill., as pastor and finally to Alexis. Friends described him today as "eccentric." They said he had known Miss Haley since her childhood.

General Assembly To Convene At 4

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Illinois General Assembly, meeting in its fourth special session, will begin consideration today of relief legislation which, according to Governor Louis L. Emmerson, is imperative unless 700,000 residents of the state, now being fed by the relief commission, be left to face starvation.

The legislators will assemble at 4 o'clock, CST this afternoon. Twenty bills are ready for consideration.

The proposals include bills for the diversion of the one cent gas tax allotment to counties from road purposes to relief work; for increases in the state gas tax; sales taxes; and measures designed to make it possible for the state to take advantage of the federal bill financing slum reconstruction and the building of homes for persons of small incomes.

Steel Production Shows An Increase

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—"Iron Age" today reported a gain in steel output production this week to 14 1-2 per cent of rated capacity from 13 per cent last week, due to a sharp rise in operations in the Cleveland district.

"Further gains this month," it said, "are largely dependent on the volume of incoming business for immediate requirements, as steel mills have virtually no backlog tonnage on their books."

A large number of miscellaneous steel orders, mostly covering small orders for nearby shipment, has been received, even though there has been little support for the industry from the railroads and automobile manufacturers. Some improvement in pig iron buying, notably at Cleveland, has occurred.

CITY TAX LEVY IS REDUCED BY OVER A TENTH

Ordinance Presented To City Council Last Evening

A reduction of more than 10 per cent in the operation costs of certain city departments is provided in the tax levy ordinance for next year which was presented to the city commission last evening and placed on file in the office of City Clerk Blake C. Grover. The reductions total $14,100 under last year's tax levy ordinance and provides for the following slashes: $500 from the public library fund; $1,300 from the firemen's pension fund; $1,300 from the city garbage collection fund; $10,000 from the public benefit fund. The total of the tax levy ordinance for next year amounts to $133,969, which represents more than a ten per cent reduction.

Local improvement ordinance, No. 273, series of 1932, which provides for the covering of the North Galena avenue brick with a rock asphalt after the state Highway Department completes construction of a 20-foot concrete slab through the enter of the street from the north approach to the Galena avenue bridge to Everett street was passed. The engineer's estimate of the cost of the improvement is $2,100. The regular semi-monthly bills were ordered paid.

BIGGEST VOTE IN HISTORY IS VERY PROBABLE

Head of Junior Chamber Of Commerce In Prediction

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A prediction that the vote in November's presidential election will be the heaviest in history—approaching the 50,000,000 mark—was made by President Hoover today by Courtlandt Osie of New York, president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Osie said he had delivered such a report to the Chief Executive as part of a nation-wide "get out the vote" campaign. His organization is non-partisan, but recently received an endorsement of this drive from the President.

Osie said he told Mr. Hoover also that the Junior Chamber was "in complete accord with the government's mobilization of the nation's business leaders, in the non-partisan groups, to attack the major economic problems of the day."

He added that he placed before the President several planks recently adopted by the organization, among them one opposing payment of the bonus to World War veterans "except upon terms heretofore agreed upon" and another opposing further payments to veterans for disabilities not connected with war time service. Mr. Hoover has stated publicly on several occasions his opposition to such payments.

GET "SOBER" LIZARDS

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The capture of six "perfectly sober" giant lizards was announced today by the Smithsonian Institution.

Natives of Petite Gonave island off the coast of Haiti warned a Smithsonian expedition the great iguanas could be taken with safety only when intoxicated. They advised sum, and said that if given an opportunity the lizards would drink themselves helpless.

But expedition members found them harmless and captured six sober animals by hand. They took like miniature copies of the long-necked dinosaurs and go to the National Zoological Park here.

ANYONE LOST MUMMY?

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Has anyone lost a good mummy? Policeman Ralph Stone is asking this question these days—ever since he moved into a new home and his children began to look around a bit.

In a locked room inside a barn on the place they found a coffin inside of which was what appears to be the double body of a boy.

Nearby was a poster which read: "Labow, famous double-bodied Egyptian boy."

Policeman Stone thinks a circus or carnival used to make money with the "bodies" and that the owner stored them away in the barn and forgot about them.

A SQUIRREL CAT

Beardstown, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Three squirrels a week old were adopted by a mother cat, south-east of Beardstown, and are doing nicely according to latest reports from the farm, where the odd "foster mother" is said to be showing some partiality to the little brown babies, over her litter of five kittens.

The squirrels were found in a nest after a hunter had killed their mother. The man then took them. (Continued on Page 2)

OFFICERS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO CONVOY TRUCKS

Farmers Stone Peace Officers After Defying Them

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Nearly 100 Plymouth county Deputy Sheriffs, armed with shotguns, revolvers, and clubs, were turned back by a crowd of more than 500 farm holiday strikers this morning when the officers made an attempt to escort 22 truckloads of livestock through the picket lines at James, Iowa, near here.

The cattle truckers, from northwestern Iowa, assembled at the Lemars ball park this morning and asked Sheriff Ralph Rippey to provide an escort through the picket lines.

Rippey hastily assembled all available men, swore them in as deputies, armed them and started for James.

The deputies, in four trucks, preceded the caravan of 22 livestock trucks. When they reached James they were halted by the group of angry farmers who had placed heavy timbers on the highway.

Threats Ignored

Sheriff Rippey alighted from the first truck and ordered his men to remove the barriers, at the same time threatening to shoot anyone who interfered.

The strikers surrounded the deputies and forced them to climb back into their trucks.

The strikers then turned the trucks around and ordered the officers to return to Lemars. No shots were fired, but there were fist fights between strikers and deputies.

As the trucks proceeded back towards Lemars, the strikers hurled stones, bricks and other missiles and several of the deputies, struck on the head, fell to the floor of the rear truck. It was thought that they were not seriously injured.

GROWS AT CARTHAGE

Carthage, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The farmers' holiday movement took a more definite trend here last night and has reached a place where the organization is ready to canvass the territory through its township and school district committees, seeking 100 per cent organization that will put the county on an entirely voluntary strike basis.

More than a thousand farmers, mostly from this county, and including representatives from other nearby counties heard Glenn Miller, president of the Iowa Farmers Union, in his plea here last night for united effort, ask the farmers of the county to join in this vast movement for recognition of agriculture.

Committees are today hard at work enlisting the farmers in the voluntary strike which has been in effect for more than a week in this county. Leaders here point out that the strike is entirely voluntary and they hope to keep it so.

Economic Parley May Be Postponed

London, Sept. 7.—(AP)—It was said in official quarters today that the British government has received no intimation from the United States regarding postponement of the world economic conference which has been expected to begin in London late next month.

Newspaper reports from Washington say the United States desires postponement, but preparations for the conference already are under way with a preparatory committee scheduled to meet at Geneva late in September.

It was thought likely Great Britain, because of the need to consolidate various arrangements with the dominions resulting from the imperial economic conference would agree to postponement, and it would cause no surprise here if the conference were delayed until early next year.

Statistician Says The Worst Is Over

Wellesley, Mass., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ralph B. Wilson, vice president of the Babson Statistical Organization, sees happier days for the business world in 1933.

"The depression would be over at once," he told the 19th annual National Business Conference today. "If it were possible for us to reduce at one fell swoop the cost of governing ourselves 15 per cent." He predicted that "business has struck rock bottom" and added "a sharp rise in the commodity and security markets indicates the worst is over."

"CONVICT" APPREHENDED

Two local youths, one clad in a loose fitting suit made to imitate a prison garb with the wide stripes, created quite a scare in certain sections of the city Sunday and Monday evenings. Chief Van Bibber received several calls from excited women who told of seeing a man wearing a prison uniform either hiding behind trees or running across lots. The chief investigated and traced down the garment which had been created for a masquerade, and halted the young men's further ventures.

ONE AWARD UNCLAIMED

But one of the premiums for the August awards of the Dixon Loyalty League remains to be claimed. The list so far claimed is as follows: Miss Geraldine Mallach, first, Essex sedan; Mrs. Max Rosen, second, $50 worth of groceries; James Devine, Jr., third, $35 worth of furniture; Claude Daugherty, fourth, $25 worth of groceries; fifth, unclaimed; sixth, William Gehardt, $25 worth of ladies' clothing; Mrs. May Miller, seventh, $25 worth of hardware; John Palmer, eighth, $25 worth of automobile accessories; Mrs. Arthur Hill, ninth, $25 worth of electrical supplies; Mrs. Elmer Love, tenth, $20 worth of drugs, and Dr. E. STORIES TOLD BY EMPLOYEES OF BERN VARY

Los Angeles Officers are Confused: Film Star Cannot Explain

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Conflicting stories of week-end events which preceded the discovery of the body of Paul Bern, film producer and husband of Jean Harlow, platinum blonde screen star, confused police investigation of the apparent suicide today.

David A. Davidson, head of the police homicide squad said he was dissatisfied with the progress his men have made in the case and, pending the inquest Thursday, he would again question domestic help of the producer. The Inspector of Detectives said the servants' accounts differ as to the events of last Saturday and Sunday.

The unclothed body of Bern, 42, was found by John Carmichael, butler, Monday in the dressing room of his home. A pistol, one chamber discharged, was gripped in Bern's right hand and a bullet wound was in the head. A note signed "Paul," addressed to "Dearest Dear" and confessing a "frightful wrong" lay near a picture of Miss Harlow.

Stories Conflict

Carmichael said the producer dined with Miss Harlow, his bride of two months, Saturday evening, but Harold A. Garrison, chauffeur, told police his employer left the film studios in Culver City and drove to the Ambassador Hotel a few minutes after 6 P. M. Garrison further declared Miss Harlow was at the home of her mother both Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Miss Harlow was questioned by police last night after they had been forced to wait for more than 24 hours due to her hysterical condition.

"I can't understand why this terrible thing should have happened," she said. "As for the note left by Paul, I have no idea what it means. This 'frightful wrong' he apparently believed he had done me is all a mystery. I can't imagine what it means."

"Paul often talked to me of suicide as a general topic, but never once did he intimate that he himself contemplated such an act. There was nothing between us that I can think of that would have caused him to do this."

Cryptic Telegram

A cryptic telegram to Louis B. Mayer, general manager of the film studios where Bern was associate producer, from Dr. Ed. B. Jones, Bern's personal physician, now in Honolulu, only added to the mystery of the case. It read:

"Understand motive. We leave at once to testify for you and Miss Harlow if necessary."

Miss Harlow, hysterical and delirious at the time, attempted to throw herself from a small balcony within the home of her mother yesterday afternoon. She was restrained by friends. The balcony is more than ten feet in height.

Bern's death was due to a typical "suicide wound," Frank R. Webb, autopsy surgeon, reported, with indication the gun had been held close to the right temple.

He Left No Will

Police sought an explanation of a car that drove away from the vicinity of the secluded Bern home about 3 A. M., Monday. The incident was reported to police by Vorkapich, a film director living nearby.

R. D. Knickerbocker, attorney for Bern, said as far as he knew no will was left by the film producer.

In that event, his widow, Jean Harlow, will receive half of the estate and the other half will go to blood relatives.

Friends intimated today the estate of Bern will not be large as he was reported to have lost heavily in the stock market crash of 1929 and to have spent large sums of money in philanthropies.

Who was Who?

ANNABELL LEE

THE hopeless grief for beauty lost beyond recall which haunts the poem of Edgar Allan Poe can but have been inspired by the tragic story of his beautiful and dearly beloved "child wife," Virginia Clemm Poe. Her early death is echoed in his bitter-sweet lament for "Annabell Lee," in the almost incoherent despair of "Ulalume," and she is the lost Lenore of "The Raven."

In 1831 Poe, then recently of West Point, took up residence at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Marie Poe Clemm, in Baltimore and there first met his cousin Virginia, then but nine years old. Four years later, when Virginia was just turned fourteen and Poe had just been made literary editor of the Southern Literary Messenger, they were married. Despite their youthful devotion, it was a star-crossed match: the bride, though inclined to poverty, was still but a pretty child, and Poe, swept to dizzying heights and depths on the erratic wings of his genius, was but a poor provider.

Virginia was a sweet and happy person. Spurred on by her brilliant husband, she wrote little poems which limped only slightly and expressed well her eternal devotion. She also sang, charmingly. One night, singing at a party, she ruptured a blood vessel. Tragedy descended upon the household. Five years later Virginia died, in a quiet cottage at Fordham, near New York. Humble Coney Referred to Twice in Scriptures

Psalms 104:18 tells us that—"The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats; and the rocks for the conies," for the coney has no strong digging claws as has the rabbit, nor has it the powerful hind-quarters of the hare. In fact it is classed amongst the most defenseless creatures of the wild, and as such it is referred to in the thirtieth chapter of the Book of Proverbs:

"There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wise. The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer. The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make their houses in the rocks. The locusts have no king yet go they forth all of them by bands. The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in king's palaces."

The wisdom of the coney is shown in the choice it makes of a place for its home, which is usually among a heap, or a lot of fixed and loose rocks among which it hides and about which it moves very elusively when disturbed, as travelers who try to catch one of them soon find out.—Montreal Herald.

A Puzzler

The Manchester (Eng.) Guardian drove its readers to the dictionary with this one:

The small boys' teacher had asked her pupils for a sentence containing the word "vell." Amid numerous written replies one stood out above the remainder—"The lady wore a vell on her doutergamy." "Doutergamy?" exclaimed the teacher. "Where did you get that word, Johnny?"

"Crossword puzzle, mum," replied Johnny, glibly.
 "But what does it mean?"
 "Second marriage, mum."
 The teacher turned to the dictionary and found Johnny was correct.

Feel Low? Go Up and Jump!

Feel low? Then fly high and jump. That's the baux-shaking formula of Mrs. Marie McMullin of Cleveland, O. Mother of a four-year-old daughter, Geraldine, who also likes to fly, Mrs. McMullin made her first parachute jump two years ago "just for the fun of it." She's been parachuting "whenever I feel I need it" ever since and soon will try for a new women's record by stepping out of a plane at 25,000 feet, nearly five miles.

FINE PROGRESS IS REPORTED IN BUILDING PLAN

U. S. Treasury Dept. Shows Over Half Of Work Is On

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Rapid progress on the $700,000,000 public building program was reported today by the Treasury Department in a review of authorized projects.

The report said that specific authorizations aggregated $496,463,942 and that 230 buildings costing $71,400,219 had already been completed. It further reported 382 projects with a total cost limit of $324,583,323 were under contract either in whole or in part.

In regard to 136 projects costing $42,172,900, the Treasury said they either were in the specification stage or that bids had been received for their construction. Sixteen projects to cost $2,534,500 were reported in the drawing stage while plans for 39 projects, costing $17,673,000 were being drafted by private architects.

It was explained that Secretary Mills had not yet determined on the expenditure of the $100,000,000 provided in the relief act for public buildings. However, it was said that if Secretary Mills ruled that funds would be made available for this construction the money would be applied to the $700,000,000 program.

The entire program calls for the construction of 1800 buildings in the District of Columbia and throughout the country.

Last Civil War Battle

Sailors Creek was the last great battle of the Civil war. General Sheridan describes it as "one of the severest conflicts of the war." It is explained that comparatively little is heard of the battle because it was completely overshadowed by the surrender of the Confederacy only three days later. Such leading generals as Lee, Meade, Longstreet, Sheridan, Humphreys, R. H. Anderson, Ewell, Gordon, Seymour, Crook, Merritt, Stagg, and Kershaw were engaged. The battle took place on April 5, 1865. The scene was the general neighborhood of Amelia courthouse, about 30 miles west of Petersburg, Va.

They Wear in Air—

Here are three guesses at what the well-dressed feminine flyer will wear in the air this season, all photographed at the National Air Races in Cleveland. Mrs. Ross Hadley of Los Angeles, Calif. (left), appeared in a short-sleeved blouse, jersey shorts, sports, sport shoes without hose. Betty Lund, stunt pilot (center), prefers long, loose flannel slacks worn with a striped sweater and leather helmet. Gladys O'Donnell, air derby racer (right), was in white from helmet to toes. She wore jodhpur breeches a short vest and loose scarf about her neck.

NINE ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING FISH PEDDLER

Schenck's Abduction Had No Connection With Lindy Case

Clearfield, Pa., Sept. 7.—(AP)—State Trooper John Mahaleck, was busy today serving warrants on nine men charged by Garrett Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish peddler with holding him captive for 76 days following the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Schenck, found Saturday at a mountain cabin in Somerset county told investigators he was taken from Hopewell by a private detective and was held captive until freed last week. He is voluntarily remaining in the custody of Sheriff Ira McCloskey who accompanied him to the office of a justice of the Peace where the informations against the nine men were filed.

J. J. Devine, a Johnstown private detective, and Roy Cummings of Johnstown, are accused of kidnapping. Charles Horner and Edward Benshaw of Johnstown; Avery Connors and Frank Shugarts of DuBois; J. J. Cupp of Johnstown; Russell Love, DuBois Chief of Police, and Reuben Rakestraw of DuBois, are charged with being accessories. All also are accused of conspiracy.

U. S. DROPS PROBE Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation, said today a federal inquiry had disclosed no connection between the kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., and Garrett Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish peddler.

Schenck claimed he was held a prisoner in a mountain cabin near Johnstown, Pa., for 76 days by a private investigator in the Lindbergh case, before Johnstown police effected his release. "We are withdrawing from the Schenck case because our agents have found no federal law violated, either by Schenck or by those accused of kidnapping him," Hoover said.

BEAUTY SEEN IS NEVER LOST

BEAUTY seen is never lost. God's colors are fast; The glory of that sunset heaven Into my soul has passed. Wherefore—
Let there be many windows in your soul.
That all the glory of the universe May beautify it... Tune your ear To all the wordless music of the stars.
And to the voice of nature, and your heart.
Shall be enlarged and gladdened. Unseen hands
Shall speed to help you from their peace-crowned heights,
And all the forces of the firmament Shall stoop to make you strong.

69th Birthday Happily Remembered

A happy group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Julian last evening to celebrate his 69th birthday anniversary. There were about thirty present, including a daughter, Mrs. Edward Pucci and children of New York City.
The entire evening was planned by Mrs. Julian and relatives and was a decided surprise to the host of the evening, who was astonished to note how large his family had grown when all were seated at the delicious 6 o'clock dinner served by Mrs. Julian. The table and the rooms at the home were beautifully decorated with red, yellow and orchid dahlias and snow-on-the-mountain.
After the dinner five hundred was the amusement for the remainder of the evening. Mrs. Fred Hammarstrom was awarded the favor for high score for the ladies and Louis Bevalague was presented the favor for high score for the men.
The conclusion of a delightful evening the guests sought their homes leaving many lovely gifts for Mr. Julian with best wishes for happy returns of the day.

SHE'S HAVING A GOOD TIME, EVEN IF IT WILL BE BRIEF

The Children's Side Of Divorce Question

"Mother, why doesn't Daddy stay here any more?"
"Why—a—he does, come, dear. He's here every Saturday and Sunday."

"But you are never home when he comes. You're always over at Grandma's or some place. And he isn't away; he said to some man over the telephone he was staying at the Royal Hotel."

"Yes, I guess he is. You see, well, he just decided maybe he had better go there while. Sometimes a man sort of has to be by himself, I guess."

"Is he tired of us?"
Kitty looked tragically straight into her mother's eyes. They had to be answered.

"Oh, no! Not tired of you or baby. He loves you both very dearly. Oh, you know how it is." Lois became suddenly confidential. "Men have business to look after and they just don't want to be with their wives every minute."

"But Almee's daddy stays home all the time and so does Suzanne's."

"That's all I can tell you, dear. You must not bother your little head any more. Daddy still loves you and he'll be here Saturday to take you riding."

"Will you be here?" anxiously. "Will you come too?"

"Why, I'll try." But Lois knew she wouldn't. She thought of the meeting in the lawyer's office the next day and by Saturday she would be Mrs. Lois Brown, not Mrs. J. K. Brown, Jr.

A Double Loss
Kitty had not slept for nights and nights. She missed her father, but she missed something still deeper. The old affection between her parents when they used to joke and have so much fun and call each other "darling" and "honey" and everybody was so extremely happy.

She had overheard two or three quarrels, but then over at Almee's she heard little spats, too; also at Suzanne's. She guessed all mothers and daddies used a little. But they didn't really mean much because the next day, they seemed to have forgotten all about it.

The little girl was miserable, puzzled and ill. No one would tell her anything. If only she knew all about it she would try to understand.

Day by day she refused to eat. She got thinner and paler and more listless. When she played at all she played soberly, without a smile, but gradually she ceased going to her friends' houses altogether and when they came to her she either hid or pleaded some excuse and ran upstairs.

One day Lois called the doctor in. "What is it?" she asked anxiously.

"Heartbreak," he answered very tersely. "I cannot do anything, it is up to you and John."
"Why, a child couldn't—"
"Couldn't she? You don't know children." He took his leave suggesting a trip away and a tonic. "But I don't expect much result," he added.

They See The Light
Lois stood and thought. She and John had supposed it would be easy. They hadn't thought of this. There had been a delay over a technicality anyway and after all—both of them could have tried harder.

She called up the Royal Hotel. "John—this is Lois. Just going to call me? What about? Kitty! That's why I am calling you. What do you think?"
"That were a pair of fools."
"So do I. We can't do this to our children, can we?"

"No, I'm packing now and I'll be home in half an hour to stay."
"Stay is right. We'll just have to make it go, my dear. I believe we can."

Dixon R. N. A. Sponsor Baby Festival During Month

A mammoth circus of tiny tots will be held in Dixon during September, when every baby in Dixon and Lee county between the ages of one week and five years will be invited to enter the festival free of charge to the parents. The festival is sponsored by the Dixon lodge of the Royal Neighbors of America.

The babies will be scored for health points and many beautiful trophies or prizes will be awarded to the winners of the various groups.
Special prizes will be awarded to the first baby to register at 2 P. M., on Thursday Sept. 8th, at 222 West First street, headquarters for the festival. Prizes will be awarded to the youngest baby; to the first set of twin babies and to the mother of the most babies within the age limits. There will be no charge to enter the baby. It will not be necessary to bring the baby at the time of registering. Just enter name, age and address. No entries accepted by phone or mail. Babies may be registered any time this week.

The festival is to be directed by Mrs. Ruth Leftwich who has had many years of experience in directing better baby festivals in Illinois and throughout the United States. If your baby has any defects now is the time to have them corrected and if you have a perfect baby enter it and win one of the lovely awards given to the winner.

Vallees Will Not Get a Divorce

Reno, Nev., Sept. 7.—(AP)—There will be no divorce for the Rudy Vallees, the former Fay Webb, actress wife of the crooning radio singer, said here today.
"It was all a mistake," Mrs. Vallee said. "I love my husband and always have loved him. I am leaving at noon for Santa Monica and will join Rudy later in New York. I'm so happy."

The startling turn came as Mrs. Vallee was believed to be preparing to establish divorce residence here. A sudden realization that her separation from Vallee was all the result of a "childish and foolish quarrel" coupled with a midnight telephone conversation with the radio singer and orchestra leader in Atlantic City, was responsible for the change in plans.

"I know now that I was just a little fool to even think of a divorce," Mrs. Vallee confessed. "Rudy never wanted one, although he was just a perfect dear and told me that if I thought a divorce was best, why that was what I should get. But I was wrong and we love each other more than ever now. We both admitted that last night."

Hyman Bushel, New York attorney who had preceded Mrs. Vallee here to make arrangements for her stay in Reno, was highly pleased. "I told them from the first that they were just a couple of foolish children," he said.
Bushel arranged to leave by plane for New York. Mrs. Vallee and her father, C. E. Webb, Chief of Police at Santa Monica, Cal., had reservations on a train leaving for California at 12:40 P. M.

PICKING WOOL

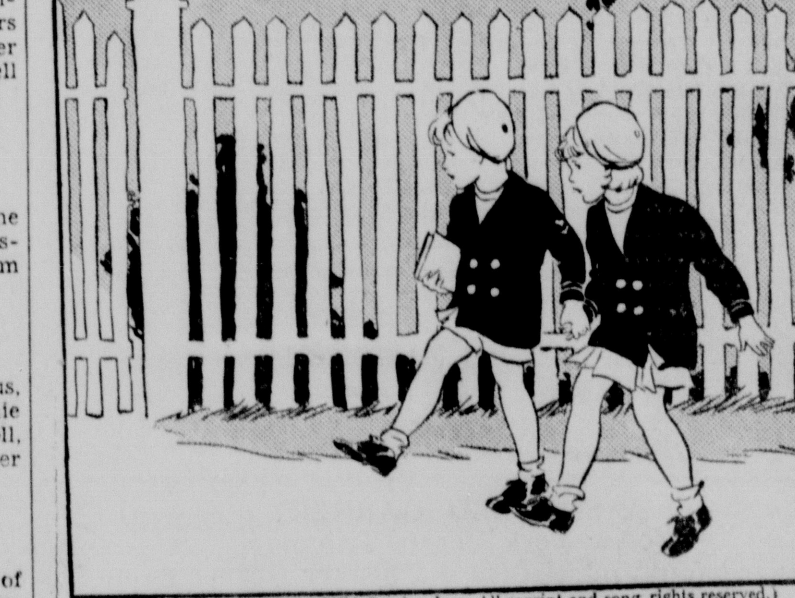

Moscow—Soviet sheep ranchers have a new system of gathering wool. Sheep are not sheared under this system. The animals are given a small dose of a preparation of heavy mineral salts. This is said to act on the synthetic nerve system and to cause the wool to become so loose that it can be picked off easily by hand.

DISSATISFIED

By HELEN WELSHIMER
MY neighbor's children come from school in brief blue coats, red tams, To find their mother waiting with Custled leaves and jams. While I serve tea at five o'clock, And bread cut wafer thin, To any casual visitor Who happens to drop in.

VERY time my neighbor goes Across the town to shop She takes along a coin or two To buy a doll or top. But I may order what I want, A fan or string of beads—I do not have to sacrifice To little children's needs.

HORS DE COMBAT

Napoleon, O. Sheriff George Bowerman, usually an active office holder who is always on the go, is in a tight spot. Recently he was operated on for appendicitis and ordered to remain home and rest. Knowing her husband as she does, Mrs. Bowerman knew he'd have a hard time staying home, so she locked up her husband's trousers. Now the fuming sheriff attempts to calm himself while sitting on the front porch of the jail clad in pajamas and bath robe. He'll get his pants when the doctor removes the band.

Alaska can produce 1,500,000 cords of pulpwood annually which can be converted into 1,000,000 tons of newsprint, or more than one-fourth of the present yearly consumption of the United States.

MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN

ADORABLE FROCK WITH CAPE COLLAR Pattern 9440

Cape collars "do things" to little girls. They add to their nipped and youthfulness. The narrow bands and the perky buttons are adorable on this frock. Notice how the theme is carried out on the cuffs, too. It would be lovely of a very gay cotton print or a sheer wool, and you'll be surprised how easily it can be made.

Pattern 9440 may be ordered only in sizes 6 to 14. Size 10 requires 2 1-2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated, step-by-step making instructions included with this pattern.

To get a pattern of this model, send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c in coins or stamps; coins preferred). Transfer Pattern 804, 15c additional. Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

For a complete collection of the smartest, most practical and easiest-to-make styles consult the MARIAN MARTIN FALL AND WINTER PATTERN CATALOG. Its 32 pages include beautiful models for juniors and kiddies, as well as the best of the new season's afternoon, evening, sports and house frocks, lingerie and pajamas. Exclusive items for gift sewing, too. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG, FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

A SUBDUED GARNER?

(New York Herald Tribune)

To what fount of wisdom did peaker Garner go on his recent trip to New York City and Albany? He boiled over with defiance of the President and the Republican party generally during the closing days of Congress and on his return to the Texas sagebrush immediately thereafter. It looked as though his loose talk might make him the main issue of the campaign. There intervened a fishing trip. Then he came North to consult Governor Roosevelt and the party management. An assistant was provided to accompany him and to advise him—to interpret for him the Eastern mind—during the remainder of the campaign.

Next we find him in Washington, on his way back to Uvalde, on the banks of the Rio Grande. Does he show any anxiety to get out on the hustings to scourge his political opponents? Quite the contrary. He will remain quietly in Texas until "the latest possible date." There is such a thing as doing too much talking. It might be better if he went fishing until November. "All we have to do to win is to make no mistakes." And, as if emphasizing that such danger occupies a prominent place in his mind, he consolingly quotes an anonymous Republican friend as expressing the belief that "Roosevelt and I combined could not make enough blunders to prevent our election." Anyway, he will take no more chances.

The Speaker will not lay himself open again to jibes such as Representative Wood, of Indiana, has hurled in his direction. He was quoted as saying, "I have always done what I thought was best for my country, never varying, unless I was advised that two-thirds of the Democrats were for a bill, and then I voted for it." "Folks out my way," the impish Mr. Wood has written, "want to know if this means you are for the good of the country except when you vote as a Democrat, or do you mean that you put your party ahead of your country, or are you simply trying to explain why you went 'haywire' during the last session of Congress, and if so where does that leave the Democrats?"

Incidentally, the Speaker, passing on to the great Texas silences, quietly tossed into the Potomac his $1,000,000 pork barrel "relief" bill—the one he so strenuously advocated in the closing days of the last session. It wasn't the sort of bill he would have written had he had more time, he explained apologetically to the newspaper correspondents. It wouldn't happen again.

But who knows how long this sudden conversion may last?

GETTING THE VALUE OUT OF OUR MACHINES.

One of the things you are going to hear a lot more about during the next few years is the abbreviated day.

A few years ago labor felt itself to be very advanced when it came out for the eight-hour day. Now, under the stimulus of a depression, such hitherto radical proposals as the six-hour day and the five-day week are being talked of in the most polite society. The "New Hampshire plan" for adopting such a scale nationally in order to create jobs for 3,000,000 men is being discussed in the White House itself.

Obviously, there has been a tremendous change in conservative sentiment. What has caused it? A growing appreciation of the potentialities of a machine-driven civilization? Unfortunately, no; simply the fact that we have a good many million men out of work and this looks like a good way of taking care of them.

That, of course, is all to the good. But we need to look a little farther than that. We need to realize that putting all workers on shorter time is desirable in itself—that there are human values involved which make the step a good one, entirely aside from the more immediate issue of reducing unemployment.

Back of the whole thing stands one great fact; that machines, henceforth, can do the bulk of the world's drudgery, that the work of the world can be got done now with each individual contributing only a fraction of the toil that was formerly required of him.

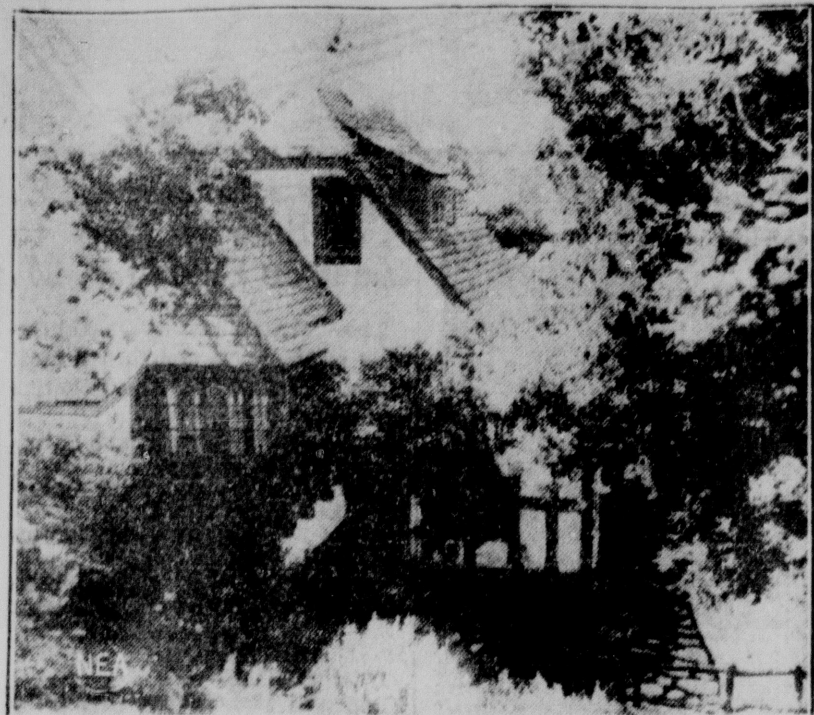

On this fact we can build a new kind of civilization. That charming dream of a few years ago about doing away with poverty can be made a reality. Every man can have enough and to spare. No man need grind his life out on soul-killing work which reduces him to the level of a machine.

The most important thing right now, of course, is to give jobs to men who lack them; and if cutting working I think it is only fair that a man who has given his best during the least favorable period in the history of the state should have another term in which to show what he can do when times are better.—Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan, up for re-election.

hours will do it, well and good. But ultimately we must adopt the short working week as a national policy, simply because it is the only way in which we can get the full value out of our machines.

I like writing. I've always had the urge.—Al Smith, magazine editor.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

A NATIONAL DISGRACE

The recent battle of Pennsylvania avenue in which veterans of the World War and their families were driven from the Capitol by bayonets and gas bombs shocked the nation as few events have shocked it since those stirring days of 1917-18 when the Germans hurled their full strength against the allies, and the three minute speakers were hailing the Yankee doughboys as the hope of the world.

It was the climax of a siege that began three months ago in conjunction with the demand for immediate cash payment of adjusted service certificates.

Even those who were opposed to the theory of cash payment, as well as those who were not in sympathy with a veteran invasion of Washington, D. C., sincerely deplored the unfortunate scenes that were enacted in the very shadows of the national capitol. Moreover, even the majority of those who concede evacuation of these veterans was justified, believe the authorities could have handled the situation with much less display of force and with much more consideration for the emotions of men who not very long ago were welcomed home as heroes on the field of battle.

These are trying times especially for those who find themselves without food, clothing or shelter and no prospect of immediate relief in the form of self sustenance. The people as a whole are naturally nervous over conditions extremely acute and their emotions are at high pitch due to widespread uncertainty as to what the morrow will bring.

In every crisis the people look to the nation's leaders for conference and an ability to cope with troublesome internal problems with sympathetic understanding. The presence of the so-called bonus army in Washington created just such a test for those who control the destinies of the country. Citizens who regard the final developments from a non-partisan viewpoint are virtually unanimous in their opinions that these leaders proved unequal to the occasion in this particular emergency.

Those men who assembled in Washington, with the belief that their presence would win recognition in the conviction that their course was just and their methods proper. Others will take issue with these convictions, but the fact remains that as citizens of a free country

IN MEMORIAM

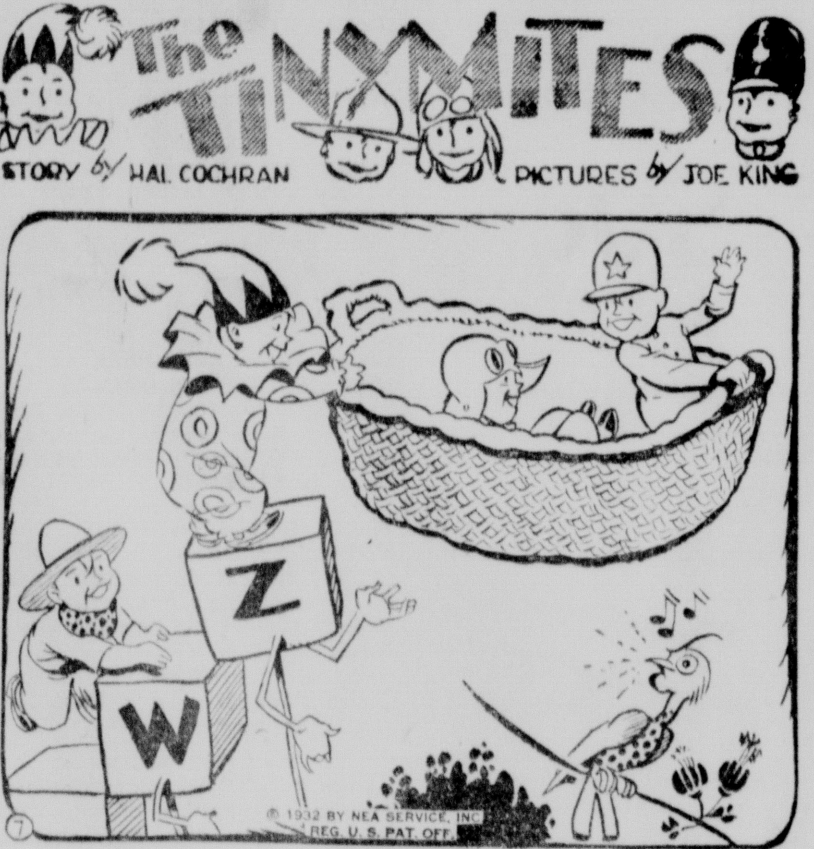

(Contributed)

In memory of R. H. Belt, born April 7, 1870 who passed away Aug. 27, 1931, at the age of 62 years four months and 20 days.

In the peaceful shades of twilight when the birds had gone to rest, the Lord sent a reaper to our home and took from us our dearest darling one. We all miss you since you've gone away. With broken hearts and tearful eyes we miss you more and more each day. This dear life, it was not wasted neither will it be forgotten, though his dear, sweet form is resting in a lonesome churchyard lot. We miss your kind and loving face, while in the grave you are still and cold. We will look for you up yonder in a city that is made of gold. Oh, when life's setting sun out fleeting days shall end, we will look for you dear one in a world that's free from sin. We would love to hear your voice ringing out so sweet and clear, have you say, God bless my family as you did when you were here. Oh, the little home it was so happy, love and contentment everywhere, but now that you have gone away, gloom and sadness fills the air. Around your grave our thought will linger until life's evening sun is low, and may the circle not be broken, when Jesus calls for us to go. In that bright eternal city where no death can ever come, in his own good time he'll call us from the earth to home, sweet home. Though your footprints have faded away now, yet in dreams your voice seems near and we hear your sweet voice as before. When our work on earth is finished and we've crossed the mystic stream, we will look for you dear one in that land of heavenly dreams.

As all the blockheads foamed in line to make a stairway, they looked fine. "Look at their legs," we Scouty cried. "Gee, some are stretched way out."

"I'd hate to have my legs that way. Real short I hope that mine will stay. I wish we really knew just what this stairways all about."

"Just wait until you run up high and finally stand out in the sky," replied one of the blockheads. "Say, you'd better start to climb."

"The other Tiniest will leave you behind and that would never do."

So Scouty followed all the rest. Said he "I'll do my very best to stay right on the stairway and not topple to the ground."

"You blockheads wobble to and fro and it is rather hard to go. And, also, I get dizzy when I start to look around."

"Oh, run ahead and get your thrill. We're trying hard to stand real still," replied one of the block-heads. "Hurry up, before we flop. Our legs, you know, are very thin. They're longer than they've ever been. We, frankly, will be tickled when you Tiniest reach the top."

So Scouty did his very best to run real fast. He reached the rest and soon another Tiniest cried, "We're on the top step, now. A new adventure soon will start cause right from here's where we depart. The blockheads said we'd sail away, but I am wondering how."

Just then they heard a swishing sound. A great big basket whirled around and stopped right by the top step. "Hop in it," a blockhead cried.

The Tiniest thought it would be fun, so 'twas no sooner said than done. "I have a hunch," said Scouty, "that we'll have a dandy ride."

(The Tiniest hook on to a shooting star in the next story.)

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Decision of the Army and the Navy to resume athletic relations gave perhaps no one a greater kick in the Capital than Rep. Fred Britten of Illinois.

Britten, short, broad-shouldered and of athletic build, has been working toward that end since the two academies broke. As chairman of the Naval Affairs committee of the House, when the Republicans were in control, he used all the influence of his position to reconcile the two schools.

On various occasions he initiated movements in Congress to bring the two to a settlement of their difficulties.

BRITTEN AN ATHLETE—

He is an athlete himself. Before he came to Congress he won a name for himself as an amateur boxer. Even now he visits the gymnasium of the House office building to do shadow boxing for exercise. When he can find his friend and colleague, Purnell of Indiana, there he boxes for a few rounds.

Britten's political career had its beginning in probably as strange a way as one can imagine. It was an accident. He says so himself.

His business is real estate in Chicago. An apartment in which he lived years ago (he's been a member of the House for 18 years) had an obstruction on the sidewalk which annoyed the tenants.

Britten appealed to the ward authorities to have it removed. They gave him promises, but that was all.

He appealed to higher authorities, got more promises, but no results.

Walking into ward headquarters one afternoon, he threatened to run for alderman himself unless something was done. They told him it was impossible—that he was a Democrat and that ward was Democratic.

"Then I'll run as a Republican," he retorted.

And he did. He made a house to house canvass of the ward, told them why he was running, asked their support.

He was elected. He has been a Republican since.

PROUD OF THE FACT—

Britten's real proud of that seat in the city council at that. In his biography which he provided himself for the Congressional Directory, he uses only six lines. But one of those lines reads:

Represented the twenty-third ward in the Chicago city council from 1908 to 1912.

There's no mention, though, that he once was a Democrat.

Grand Detour News

By Mrs. Alfred Parks

Grand Detour—Virginia and Evelyn Schumacher of Dixon spent the week end with their grandmother, Mrs. Albert Glessner and husband.

GERMANS THROW IN RESERVES

On Sept. 7, 1918, allied forces continued their advance on a 50-mile front in northern France. In places, their net gain was as much as five miles, although the total ground retaken during the previous day.

German resistance stiffened noticeably as the tried troops reached the positions from which their great offensives of March and May had been launched.

Fresh German forces, numbering nearly 250,000 had been in reserve on the Hindenburg line, and the presence of these soldiers lent a new intensity to the fighting.

One of a squadron of German warships cruising off the island of Ameland ran into a mine and sank.

British airplanes bombed the German munition and chemical plants at Manneheim.

Slogans, Songs, Knicknacks Are Order Of Times

Chicago, Sept. 7—(AP)—An average of 13 persons a week write or telegraph Republican campaign headquarters here that they think "Who But Hoover?" would be a very apt campaign slogan.

The Republican leaders think so too; in fact that they adopted it many weeks ago. But still the letters, many of them hinting that financial remuneration would be acceptable, continue to pour in.

About 5,000 slogans have been submitted to various state and national Republican campaign offices since last June. Some of the slogan writers represent advertising or printing companies looking for business, but the majority of them "just thought them up at dinner last night."

The man who claims to have coined the famous phrase, "Keep Cool With Coolidge," in 1924 is back with another suggestion. He is William H. McMaster of Cambridge Mass., and this year he submitted, "It's Over; Thank Hoover," explaining he means Hoover has ended the depression.

New York, Sept. 6—(AP)—An estimated 50,000 have written or come in person to Democratic national headquarters to tell how they think Franklin D. Roosevelt can be elected President with the help of their special brand of slogan, song or knickknack.

The out-of-towners are mostly content to write, or telegraph, but a large percentage of idea-inflamed New Yorkers come right into headquarters to demonstrate. And that's where Ralph Hitchcock comes in. He listens to their songs, rolls their slogans over his tongue, looks at their cartoons, blinks non-committally at some of the strange inventions, and thanks one and all for their interest.

Filing cabinets in Hitchcock's office are crammed with the offerings, including such engines of propaganda as a transparent cake of soap enclosing a picture of the Democratic candidate and a tricky little gadget that is supposed to speak for itself, a rose on a piece of felt.

OHIO NEWS

By Esther Jackson

Ohio — A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. John Gugerty. A. C. Ruff, W. G. Dunlap and H. A. Jackson attended a banquet and initiation ceremonies of the Sword of Bunker Hill in Earlville Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Libby, Mrs. Fred Swain and Mrs. Hubert Anderson spent Friday in Peoria.

Emil Mathias and family of New Philadelphia, Ohio, former residents of this locality, visited relatives and friends here last week. Mrs. David Jearing of Chicago is a guest of her friend, Mrs. Lou Kirk.

Mrs. Hugh Johnson of Peoria spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Doran. Esther Belle and Opal Keeton, who have been spending their vacations with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jackson, returned Saturday evening to their home in Parkersville, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hurley returned Tuesday evening from a delightful European trip and a visit with relatives in New York.

Mrs. Mabel Ruff and the members of her Sunday school class gave a miscellaneous show for Mrs. Alta Hawks Krapf at the home of Miss Hazel Kasbeer, Saturday afternoon. The recent bride received many lovely gifts for her new home and the best wishes of her many friends present.

The Good Housekeepers Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lizze Knight in Walnut. Mrs. Anna Walter and Mrs. Breda Faley assisted with the demonstrations.

Miss Mary Kirk returned home Saturday from a visit with her sister in Denver, Colo.

Winn. Methodists Don't Want Wilson

St. Paul, Sept. 7—(AP)—Dr. Frank Doran, local Methodist Episcopal leader, yesterday said no Minnesota speaking engagements of Dr. Clarence True Wilson are being cancelled because of his recent statement concerning President Hoover.

Dr. Doran asserted Dr. Wilson's assertion at Cincinnati that "The serpent deserted the dry forces the first day he was elected" had roused the disapproval of many Minnesota Methodist leaders.

"Dr. Wilson is an official of the General Conference of the Methodist church," Dr. Doran said. "Nevertheless, he has become so extreme that many consider he misrepresents the spirit and attitude of the Methodist church."

"There is a movement on foot to unseat his engagement as we do not favor his extreme views and that some think is a misrepresentation of President Hoover."

Al Smith "Pilots" Mollison Aloft

High altitudes are no novelty to Captain James A. Mollison, but sky-scrapers are. Here's the scene after the Scot trans-Atlantic flyer had soared—by elevator—to the lofty tower of New York's Empire State building as the guest of former Governor Alfred E. Smith. That's Al, pointing proudly to the peak of the building's mooring mast, while Mollison, smiling appreciatively, is seen at the right of him.

American College Girl Reported Slain In Alps

The body of Jerane Iberschoff, above, 21-year-old Smith College student, of Cleveland, O., is reported to have been found near a road in the Swiss Alps. Police said she had been attacked and murdered. Miss Iberschoff was on a student tour of Europe, and was making a bicycle trip through the mountains.

A BOOK A DAY

'BIG BUSINESS' SPOILED BY TOO MUCH CHUCKLING

"Big Business" by A. S. M. Hutchinson, might have been a very funny novel if only its mirth-giving qualities hadn't affected Mr. Hutchinson himself quite so strongly.

I mean to say that Mr. Hutchinson has written an excellent farce, but he has spoiled it by underlining every joke and chuckling immoderately at every humorous twist of the plot.

In its essentials, the novel is lots of fun. There are two brothers who lose their interest in a vast fortune because they permit seven pug dogs to die; no, I can't explain it all just now; then one of the brothers vanishes, and the other one discovers that he can still collect the fortune if only he can prove that the missing brother is legally dead.

Unable to do so, he finds a schoolmaster who is the living image of the missing brother. So he hires him to impersonate the brother, and lays a plan whereby the schoolmaster can vanish, presently, in a way which will convince the courts that he has died.

Of course the real brother turns up just as the plot is to be sprung, and the novel comes to a hectic and really amusing conclusion, including an episode in which a grocery goes gaga and throws pastry all over London's biggest department store. But Mr. Hutchinson keeps jogging your elbow and whispering "Catch on?"—and it just spoils it all.

DAILY HEALTH

SERUM FOR PNEUMONIA

Progress in the development of serum treatment for pneumonia has been reported from time to time during the last six years, but even now the work is still in the experimental stage.

The preparation of an efficient serum against pneumonia is difficult for several reasons.

To begin with, pneumonia is caused not by one but by many related yet different organisms. These are divided into several groups, and it is only for group I and II that fairly efficient sera have been developed.

Furthermore, the pneumonia germ is peculiar in the toxins or poisons which it produces. The serum against pneumonia is not strictly of an anti-toxic nature. The serum, it appears, at-lacks the bacteria, rather than the poisons which the bacteria produce.

In several careful studies made both in the United States and in England, it has been shown that the serum treatment of pneumonia, where the disease has been caused by germs of types I and II, has given good results.

In control groups, some of which were treated with serum and some without, more sufferers recovered when treated with serum. However, the results are not yet as decisive as it is hoped it will be possible to make them.

The pneumonia patients of today can be treated more effectively than those of a decade ago, to begin with, we have a better knowledge of the disease and its mechanisms, and we have a larger variety of means for supporting the patient while he fights his disease.

The use of the oxygen tent and other appliances to overcome oxygen starvation, the care and complete rest which are today afforded the pneumonia patient who needs all of his circulatory resources for conquering his condition, the careful nursing which he receives, all improve his chances for winning out in the battle for life.

Louisiana "Kingfish" Wars On Bathtubs

Here's a revival of the old-fashioned Saturday night bath as United States Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana would have it. "Throw out the bathtub," says the Kingfish. "A poor man has got no business with a bathtub." So this fair disciple of the eloquent Huey has built a roaring fire in the old stove, pulled down the kitchen blind, locked the doors and windows and splashed in the washtub. Those were the happy days—or were they?

He's Michigan's "Alfalfa Bill"

Oklahoma has her "Alfalfa Bill" Murray who hitch-hiked his way into the governor's chair and Michigan has her Orla A. Bailey, farmer residing near Owosso, who is trying to duplicate Murray's feat. Bailey (shown here as a closeup) says he expects to be nominated in the Republican primary on Sept. 13, in which he opposes five candidates, including Governor Wilbur M. Brucker. Bailey owns 300 acres of land and has a good car, but, he explains, he prefers to hitch-hike his way over the state because hitch-hiking brings him in closer touch with the people. He is running on a platform of tax reduction, soldiers' bonus payment and re-submission of the 18th amendment.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

UNSOUND TAXATION

Editor, Telegraph—When a law ceases to protect, it sometimes becomes oppressive. Is not this the condition of our present property tax laws?

Twelve years ago I sold my well-paying farm to an honest, hard-working farmer at a fair price. The agreement was a perfectly fair one, allowing the buyer to pay off his mortgage with prices at a reasonable level. However, prices for farm products have decreased while taxation has increased. The hardest of work does not make up the difference. Now, the price received for the produce from this fertile farm is not enough to pay the taxes upon it, let alone the running expenses, and certainly there is nothing left with which to pay interest on the mortgage.

This year the tax on this 200-acre farm land amounted to $335.45; on the stock and equipment, $24.20; and on the mortgage, $294.40—a total of $654.05 taxes levied against this farm. There was not enough money realized from the oat crop to pay the threshing bill. The 2700 bushels of surplus corn at 21 cents a bushel would return $567.00, which leaves $87.05 to be borrowed to ward off the penalties of our antiquated taxing system.

Since this farm does not return enough money to pay this year's taxes, there is no reason to believe that it will pay the taxes of next year, plus the amount of tax money borrowed, unless constructive steps are taken by our Board of Review in lowering our tax assessments; by the Board of Supervisors in lowering salaries, expenses, and appropriations; and by the Legislators in reorganizing our taxing system.

Mrs. Martin Barnett has been appointed a state employee in charge of Ogle county relief work with headquarters in Rochelle.

A meeting of the tax reduction organization was held Tuesday evening, Sept. 6. George Stocking is chairman and C. A. Hills, secretary of the temporary organization being formed locally.

Seek Dismissal Of Lottery Charges

New York, Sept. 7—(AP)—Argument on a motion to dismiss indictments charging Conrad Mann of Kansas City, Mo., and Frank I. Herring with transportation of lottery tickets will be heard next Monday. Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy ruled today.

Former State Attorney General Albert Ottinger appeared for the defendants and said he was ready to proceed at once. He was opposed by Assistant United States Attorney Louis M. Treadwell, who asked for delay until Monday on the ground that superceding indictments might be filed before the end of the week.

Mann and Herring were indicted with United States Senator James J. Davis and others for alleged participation in what federal investigators termed lotteries conducted in connection with charitable work of fraternal orders including the Moose, Eagles and Mystic Shrine. All the defendants have pleaded not guilty.

School Director At Benton Driven Out

Benton, Ill., Sept. 7—(AP)—The school children played about the Akin school today, because Reg McCollum is no longer a power in the school board.

Public indignation forced McCollum to resign as a board member, after he had once been ousted by the County Superintendent of Schools, but had won reinstatement by court order.

McCollum, it was charged, ran for office and became a member of the school board, vowing to close the school next to his home and stop the annoyance. He accomplished his purpose and sent the children to the other school in the district a mile from the village limits.

Protests, of school patrons, instating the fact that their school is one of the few in the county, not burdened with indebtedness, not only forced McCollum's resignation, but also that of Jesse A. Collins, another board member. A teacher was hired for the Akin school and the pupils happily returned to their classes there.

League's Report On Manchuria Done

Washington, Sept. 6—(AP)—The nature of the Lytton Commission's report on the Manchurian situation, which now is speeding toward Geneva, today still was an open guess of Capital officials.

Lord Lytton, chairman of the League of Nations commission, has announced the findings will be made public simultaneously in Geneva, Tokio and Nanking, and pending that date has withheld any intimation of how the report might be affected by Japan's prospective early recognition of Manchukuo.

But it has been made clear that neither the Japanese nor Chinese advisers, who accompanied the commission on its tour of Manchuria, read the final report. Consequently reports from the east indicating that the commission's findings will declare Japan to have been the aggressor in Manchuria are not based on knowledge of its language.

England Sinking Toward Sea Level

York, England, Sept. 6—(AP)—England is sinking gradually to sea level at the rate of nine inches every one hundred years, Captain T. E. Longfield, Ordnance survey expert, told the British Association of Scientists today.

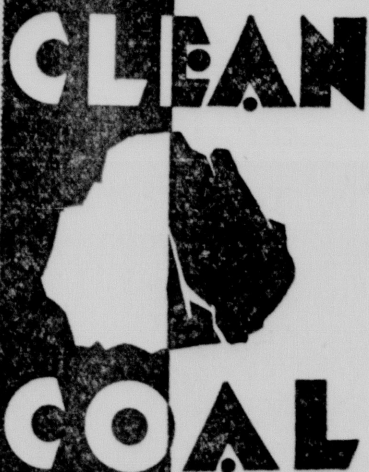

"The evidence seems conclusive," he said, "that the level of high tide 2,000 years ago must have been at least 15 feet lower than at present."

The Bank of England in London has sunk more than six inches since 1868, and St. Paul's cathedral is gradually tilting over from the effects of the subsidence, he said.

CUBS NOT GOOD ROAD TEAM BUT SHOULD TRIUMPH

Remainder Of Schedule Favors Chicagoans To Retain Lead

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago Cubs are not the best road club in the National League but there's nothing in the records to indicate they'll lose much of their present six-game lead on their current eastern invasion.

The second place Pittsburgh Pirates can boast a better record on the road but the Cubs have overcome this by a vastly superior showing at home. Chicago has played 718 ball at home and 459 on the road. The figures for Pittsburgh are 592 at home and 500 on the road.

Here's how the two contenders have fared this year:

	At Home	On Road	Pct.
Chicago	51	20	.718
Pittsburgh	45	31	.592

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pittsburgh	29	29	.500
Chicago	28	33	.459

Schedule Favors Cubs

The remainder of the schedule also favors the Cubs, six of whose remaining 22 games will be played at Chicago. Pittsburgh must play all of her remaining 20 games on the road.

There's just a chance that the Pirates can pick up enough ground in the next couple of weeks to make a "crucial" series out of the four games they will play with the Cubs at Wrigley Field Sept. 20, 21 and 22.

Action in the major leagues yesterday was restricted entirely to one double-header in the American League, the Cleveland Indians taking the St. Louis Browns over the hurdles twice, 4-3 and 6-0. Irving Hadley struck out seven Indians in the opener but was the victim of a three-run outburst in the sixth frame. George Connolly was in form in the second game and blanked the Browns with eight scattered hits. Earl Averill hit his 31st homer in this contest.

PLANS FOR SERIES

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ken-Edw. M. Landis, High Commissioner of baseball, is in town to make arrangements for the forthcoming world series.

The Commissioner has called a meeting of representatives of the three leading clubs in each league for Friday when all details of the series will be worked out. Invitations are to be sent to the New York Yankees, Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators of the American League, and the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League.

The series will open this year in the ballparks of the American League Champions.

Betting commissioners here are offering 2 to 1 that the Yankees beat the Cubs in the series, assuming that these clubs will win the pennants in their respective leagues.

WORLD SERIES CLOSEUPS

HERB PENNOCK

There are pitchers, and still more pitchers. And there is Herb Pennock, the slender southpaw stylist of the New York Yankees. He has pitched eight games in five world series, has won five games, and never has been defeated, has won more than 225 major league games and has struck out 1200 batters. Yet these appear trivial compared with the man, a thoroughbred, if there ever was one.

Pennock is 38 years old. Except for about three months in the International League in 1916 and the war year he spent in the navy, he has been pitching big league ball steadily since 1912.

The Yankee veteran is modest. He'd rather tell of his fox farm, his family, his sweet peas, chrysanthemums or tomatoes, than talk of his remarkable record on the mound.

Back in 1910, Pennock played first base for the Kennett Square Academy nine. The pitcher was Roy Freck, whose sister became Mrs. Pennock. Once, with the team far ahead, Herb was allowed to pitch the last inning. He fanned three men—and became a twirler.

The other game was in 1911. Bearing Connie Mack's recommendation, he was contracted to pitch for the Atlantic City Collegians against the St. Louis Stars, a colored combination. He gave them no hits and no runs. The Collegians won 1 to 0. Earl Mack, Connie's son, caught the game.

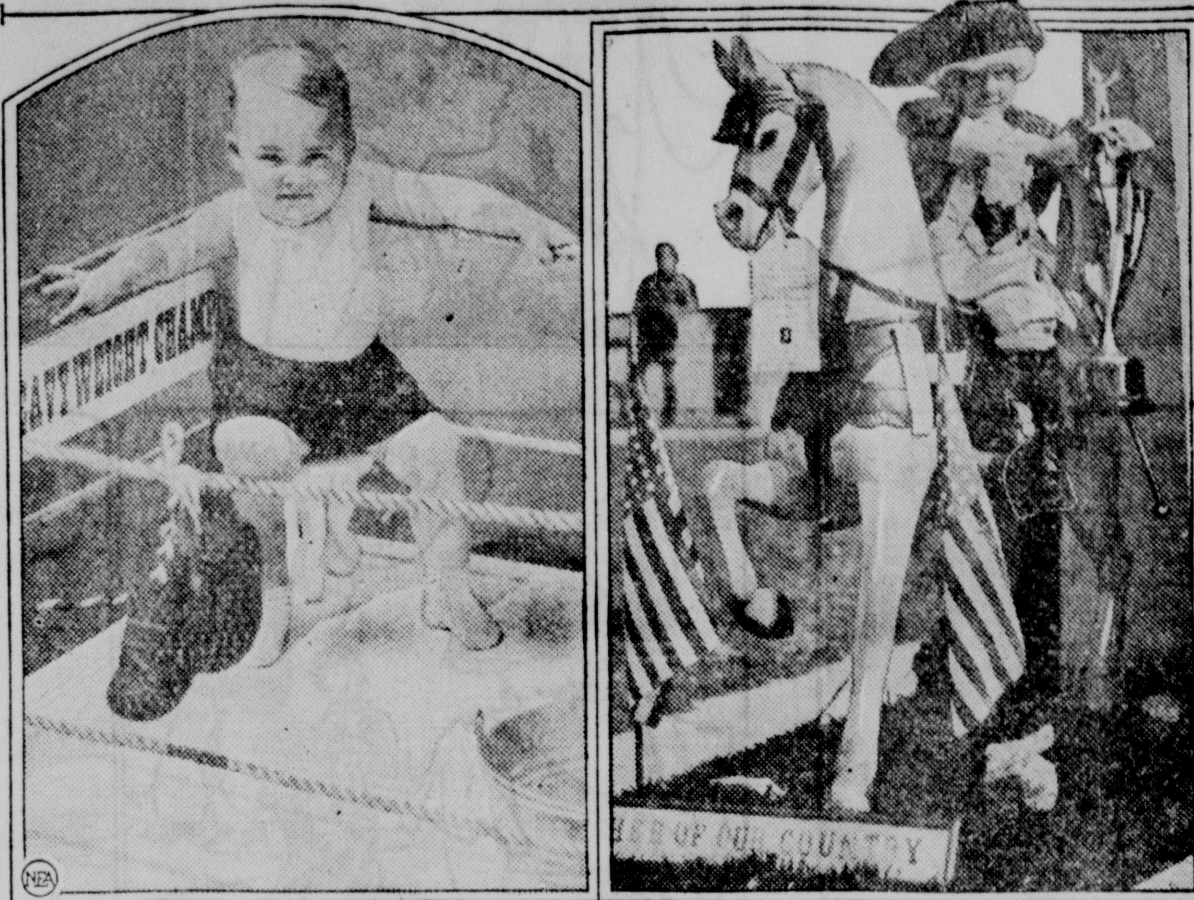

"You'll get all kinds of offers to pitch when news of this gets out," said young Mack to Pennock. "Do me a favor and don't promise anything until you've talked with Pop."

Connie signed the youth in 1912. You know the rest.

O'Brien's Tossers Defeat Harmonites

O'Brien's Tossers defeated the Harmon baseball club Sunday afternoon at Dempsey's field by a score of 14 to 11. Carlson banged out a homer in the fifth with the sacks loaded for the Tossers. Kuhn and Knoll formed the battery for the winners with Henry and Long performing for Harmon.

A Small Idea of What's Going On in the World

It's hard to tell just what these kids will be up to next! There's 15-month-old Robert Marineak, for instance (at right). You can see he's ready to take on all comers, and it would be a brave grown-up who would try to give him a spanking. And a mere age of 3 years didn't keep diminutive Jean Venturi (right) from dubbing himself "Father of Our Country" and getting on his high horse. Both were contestants in Asbury Park, N. J.'s annual baby parade.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The chatter from American Association press boxes, to the effect that Owen "Donnie" Bush, manager of the Minneapolis entry, will return to the major leagues next year has taken a definite turn.

One of the best guesses heard so far comes from Donnie's home town, Indianapolis, where Sports Chronicle Eddie Ash sets down the following:

"Owne Bush, peppery pilot of the league leading Millers, is slated to return to the majors next season, and the guess is that he will take over the managerial job at Detroit, with Bucky Harris switching back to Washington to succeed Walter Johnson."

"Bush refused to comment on his last visit to Indianapolis, but he dropped a remark indicating he would be 'up there' again in 1933, meaning the big show. Mike Kelly, president of the Millers, also said as much when he told a friend that he would have to look for a new manager for next season."

BIG TRAIN AT CLEVELAND?

That would appear to mean an out for Walter Johnson, one of the finest characters in the major leagues.

Johnson has received some bad breaks as a manager. From time to time various players were out of the game, and with a meager reserve to draw upon, Walter often has found himself up against it. The material he has had at his disposal simply was not equal to the task it was called upon to perform.

Walter has shown great improvement as a manager since his first year at Washington, 1929, when the club finished fifth. In 1930 Walter brought the Nats up to second place, and finished third last year.

Supposing that Donnie Bush does not return to Detroit and Harris goes back to Washington, there still is a chance for Johnson to stay up there. The suspension of Wes Ferrell by Roger Peckinpaugh seems to have brought to a head sentiment that several of the Cleveland directors have held against Peck for several years.

Would the Cleveland team take Johnson? They could do worse!

Winners of Toronto Swim

All question to the right of Miss Margaret Ravior to claim the women's professional 10-mile swimming championship was eliminated in the Canadian National marathon swim at Toronto when the husky Philadelphia paddler won the women's championship for the third straight year. Miss Ravior finished 15 minutes ahead of her closest competitor, to win first prize of $3000. She is shown above, center, with Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong, right, of Detroit, who won second prize of $1500, and Miss May Looney, left, of Warren, O., winner of third prize of $700.

Duck Hunting Rules Issued By State Dept.

State Conservation Inspector Henry Keister of this city is in receipt of the following instructions and rules governing the duck shooting season in this vicinity this fall, similar warnings have been sent out to all officers and employees of the department as well as to the members of hunting clubs:

In accordance with Section 16 of the Game Code of Illinois, I, as director of the Department of Conservation, give notice of a proclamation issued by the President of the United States, under date of July 20th, 1932, in regard to the season for shooting of migratory waterfowl in the State of Illinois which in effect is as follows:

1. The season in Illinois extends from 12 o'clock noon, October 16, to sundown on December 15th.
2. It is not permissible to shoot over more than twenty-five (25) live duck decoys. Limitations upon the number of live goose decoys are discontinued.

3. The season on elder ducks is opened; a daily limit of five and a bag limit of ten being provided for same.

4. A daily limit of fifteen and a bag limit of thirty is provided for the aggregate number of all kinds of ducks taken by one person, including the number taken by anyone who for hire, accompanies or assists the hunter in taking migratory waterfowl. (A daily limit of ten or a bag limit of twenty is placed upon any one or the aggregate of two or more of the following species—canvas back, red-head greater scaup, lesser scaup, ring-neck, blue-wing, green-wing, teal, cinnamon teal, shoveler and gadwall.)

day's card at the Crawford Maples arena. Four Dixon scrappers appear on the bill.

In the windup affair fans will have an opportunity to watch Bill Davis in action. Davis has taken every engagement in which he has appeared at the Maples arena thus far. Adding points consistently with his left jab, Bill has developed a terrific right hand punch.

Last week he polished off Cliff McKeel, Peoria's star at 147 pounds. Davis' opponent is Herman Rumpke of Rock Island. Rumpke has a victory over Katey Katkus in his credit which is an indication of more than fair ability.

The "Patent Leather Kid" Bill Guide of Moline makes his bow locally fighting Elwood McReynolds.

The Dixon boxer is fresh after a two weeks layoff from the ring warfare. The local "Kid" needs little introduction, having earned a fine reputation in this section not only as a boxer, but as a grid and track star. He is one of the fastest boys to show off before a local attendance.

In the other engagements, "Grandpa" Laurette meets Young Scotty of Rock Island; George Carlson is matched with Bill Cummings of Marseilles; Chuck Maguire fights Ty McGee of Rock Island and Clark Rousch of Dixon has as his opposition the popular Tony Capone of Freeport.

Won Marathon for His Girl

The water was wet, and very cold, but George Blagden, right, of Memphis, Tenn., didn't mind. He got some very pretty encouragement from a boat that moved alongside of him as he won the Canadian National 15-mile marathon swim and $7500 in first prize money at Toronto. The encouragement was Miss Gladys Lathbury, left, also a swimmer, from Philadelphia. Blagden swam the distance in 7 hours 19 minutes 52 3/5 seconds, almost 25 minutes under the previous record. This picture speaks of romance, but Gladys says there is no wedding in sight.

Gridiron Aspirants Given Two Hours Of Workout

With less than three weeks for practice sessions before the opening of the season seventy-two candidates for the Dixon high school foot ball received equipment Tuesday afternoon at the high school gymnasium. Coach C. B. Lindell and his assistant, L. E. Sharpe, put the boys through a two-hour drill before dismissal.

Planning a repetition of last year's North Central Illinois Conference championship Lindell has eight returning letter-winners from 1932. Capt. John Crabtree, in his fourth season at guard, leads the vets. In the line there are Bates, Lerdall, Kennedy, Potts and Strong. For the backfield Lightner and Fordham are the most prominent aspirants. The 32 lightweight eleven has fine material still available in Cook, Weldman, Whitebread, Kennedy, Jensen, Brown, Keller, Kline, Doan and Smith while the coaches report some promising members among the new candidates.

The nine game schedule opens with a single game at Amboy, Sept. 24. The following Saturday the first conference foe is reached when Mendota plays a double-header in Dixon. Not only is this the first grid game for Mendota in the N. C. I. C. but it is the first football meeting between the two schools since 1928.

The schedule:
Sept. 24—Dixon at Amboy.
Oct. 1—Mendota at Dixon.
Oct. 8—Dixon at Belvidere.
Oct. 22—Sterling at Dixon.
Oct. 29—DeKalb at Dixon.

HANLEY LOOKING FOR TACKLES TO BRACE UP LINE

Northwestern's Mentor Doesn't Know Just How To Figure

By WILLIAM WEEKES

Associated Press Sports Writer
Evanston, Ill., Sept. 7.—(AP)—For the first time since he went to work at Northwestern six years ago, Coach Dick Hanley doesn't know just what to make of the Wildcat's chances in the approaching football wars.

When he thinks of Pug Rentner, All-America halfback and the rest of his backfield talent, Hanley almost smacks his lips. When he thinks of those two tackle spots where Dal Marvel and Jack Riley worked for three years, he shakes his head.

"For three years out here," he said, "I didn't think so much about championships, and we didn't get any. In 1930 and 1931, I was pretty sure we would be right up around the top of the Big Ten, and we were. This year I don't yet know just how to figure."

"Rentner, Olson and Potter and whoever else we start in the backfield, look like about a match for anything the rest of the conference has. Rentner should be even better than last season, even with everybody concentrating on him. Olson is a fine kicker and Potter will be a better quarterback."

Becomes Thoughtful

All this with high enthusiasm. Then he becomes thoughtful.

"But," he asks, "where am I going to get another pair of tackles like Riley and Marvel? They don't come along every year. We will have experienced men for the rest of the line, but I'll just have to wait and see how reserves develop."

"It looks as though we will be a little easier to score on, so we will just have to bear down on doing more scoring ourselves."

Hanley figures Ohio State, Minnesota and Purdue as the outstanding choices for the championship, with Northwestern, Michigan and perhaps Indiana, as possibilities. The other four members, Chicago, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois, he believes will be stronger than in 1931. "I am certain of just one thing," he says, "Ohio, Minnesota, Purdue, Michigan and Notre Dame will have strong teams—and we meet them all."

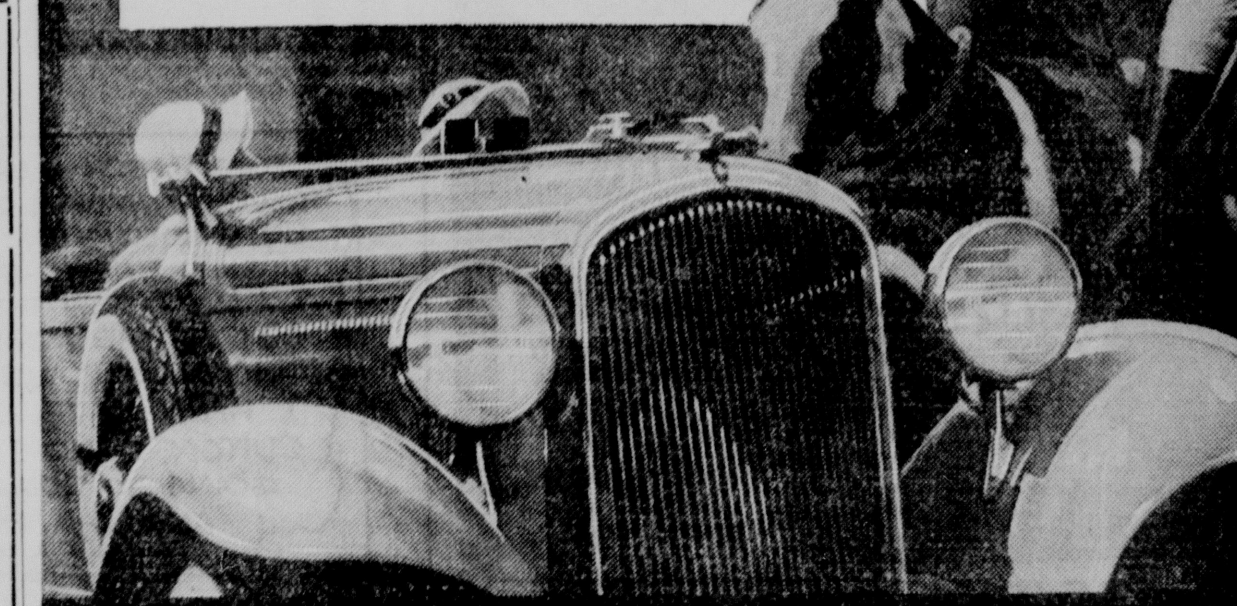

The Wildcats will open on October 1, with Missouri at Northwestern. Then in order come Oct. 2, Northwestern at Michigan; Oct. 15, Northwestern at Illinois; Oct. 22, Purdue at Northwestern; Oct. 29, Northwestern at Minnesota; Nov. 5, Ohio State at Northwestern; Nov. 12, Northwestern at Notre Dame; and Nov. 19, Northwestern at Iowa.

The prickly pear, which is a curse in Australia, is to be fought by means of insects imported from Texas. Several thousand acres have already been cleared by a beetle-like insect.

Nov. 5—Dixon at Rochelle.
Nov. 12—Savanna at Dixon.
Nov. 19—Dixon at Rock Falls.
Nov. 24—Dixon at Sterling.

"Look at all three"

the slogan that changed America's buying habits

THOUSANDS upon thousands are looking at all three lowest-priced cars. Driving all three. And they're buying more and more new Plymouths.

They are finding, in the smartly styled and impressive Plymouth, roominess and comfort beyond their expectations.

They marvel at patented Floating Power.

No vibration. Smoothness with economy.

They tell you, enthusiastically, that any car without Floating Power is out-of-date.

The new Plymouth is their choice, not because it is modestly priced, but because it is today's more-for-the-dollar car.

With patented FLOATING POWER, 12 models ranging from $495 to $785. All prices F. O. B. Factory. All enclosed models wired for Philco-Transitone radio without extra cost. Duplate Safety Plate Glass is available on all models at slight extra cost.

ACOAOT of ICE
100 FEET THICK, COMPLETELY COVERING THE EARTH, COULD BE MELTED BY THE HEAT THAT IS RECEIVED FROM THE SUN IN ONE YEAR.

COWS
ARE BEING EQUIPPED WITH SAFETY VALVES TO PREVENT BLOATING. ONLY A FEW MINUTES TIME IS REQUIRED FOR "INSTALLATION."

IF AN ANT WERE ENLARGED TO HUMAN SIZE, AND ITS STRENGTH INCREASED PROPORTIONATELY, IT COULD MOVE OBJECTS WEIGHING 120 TONS.

Thousands of cattle die every year from bloat, but once the farmer equips his cows with safety valves, he need no longer worry about losses from this source. The valve is inserted on the left side of the animal, between the hip bone and the last rib. The opening is through the skin, abdominal muscles and peritoneum, into the first stomach. When an excess amount of gas is formed, the pressure releases a ball valve and the gas escapes.

WED IN HOSPITAL

LaSalle, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP)—The guests who arrived for the Blatnick-Papish wedding were disappointed to find the ceremony had just taken place in a LaSalle hospital, where Frank Blatnick was about to undergo an emergency operation for appendicitis.

Shortly before the time for the ceremony Blatnick was taken ill and Miss Elizabeth Papish of Chicago went to his bedside to become his bride. The Rev. Nicholas Blanc of Spring Valley performed the ceremony late yesterday.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Culvert Construction.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Lee County Road and Bridge Committee and the Ogle County Road and Bridge Committee, for the construction of a box culvert at the office of the County Superintendent of Highways, Lee County, at Dixon, Illinois, at 9 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, September 13th, 1932, and then publicly opened and read.

The work consists of the excavating, constructing and backfilling of a box culvert, State Standard No. 619, 8-foot span, 5-foot clearance and 24-foot headwalls and is located one and one-half (1 1/2) miles east of State Road Issue Route No. 6 on the County Line in Ashton Township. Said culvert contains 328 cubic yards concrete and 3456 pounds of steel.

Proposals must be made on blanks furnished by the County Superintendent of Highways, Fred W. Leake, of Lee County and must be accompanied by a bank cashier's check or cash for one hundred dollars ($100), said check to be made payable to L. D. Hemenway, Chairman of the Lee County Road and Bridge Committee.

A surety or personal bond equal to the full amount of the contract must be furnished and deposited with the Road and Bridge Committee of both counties and either a surety or personal bond shall be subject to the approval of the Road and Bridge Committees of Lee and Ogle Counties, and the County Superintendent of Highways of Lee and Ogle Counties.

The successful bidder will be required to employ local labor as far as practical, however, said contractor will be allowed to employ foreign and superintendents outside of Lee and Ogle Counties. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the County Superintendent of Highways at Dixon, Illinois.

Lee County and Ogle County reserve the right to reject any or all bids for any reason they deem sufficient.

Courthouse Scene Of Night Robbery

Marshall, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP)—The Clark county court house where was entered last night by a burglar who pried open the door with a crowbar and ransacked three public offices. The loot was $130 in cash and stamps.

Offices of the County Treasurer, Circuit Court Clerk and County Clerk were burglarized and the combinations of their safes knocked off with a hammer. Little money is kept at the court house, however, and the burglar apparently was interested in little else. Four revolvers were taken from the Treasurer's office, the Treasurer being a former Sheriff.

Orphaned Baby Is Back From Africa

Boston, Sept. 6 (AP)—The orphan son of two missionaries who died of yellow fever in Sikasso, French Soudan, Africa, arrived today after a 5,000 mile voyage on the freighter Zarembo, enroute to the home of his maternal grandmother in Chicago. The child is Edward Anderson, 22-months-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Rudolph Anderson, who died on succeeding days a year ago. He was born while his parents were serving their second four-year term of service in Africa. Edward was in the care of Miss Clara Klint of Peoria, Ill., a registered nurse attached to the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

ASTORIA CHURCH BURNS
Canton, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP)—Astoria Methodists planned today a new church on the ashes of the edifice which was destroyed yesterday in the village's most disastrous fire of years.

The home of George Plate also was burned. Unlike the church, it was not protected by insurance. Seven other buildings were attacked by flames, but only partly damaged.

HOLD UP IN JOLIET

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP)—Two men held up a drug store on a downtown corner for $114 today. They locked two employees and four customers in a room on the mezzanine floor. They said they "had been down to the shack for the week end and needed some money to get back to Chicago."

NEWS OF TODAY FROM THE DIXON STATE HOSPITAL

Many Visitors At The Institution Over The Week End

Rolly Davies of the office force left Tuesday for Mt. Vernon for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Raywood Melton and Mr. and Mrs. Rule Cook have returned from a visit in Montana and California. They had a fine holiday vacation, making the far western trip by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leland and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ash have returned from a fishing trip in Wisconsin. They brought back several fine specimens of their catch and a wealth of good fish stories.

Dr. Harry Marsellis, assistant managing officer at the institution, is spending his vacation visiting in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bishop have returned from a week's fishing trip in Minnesota, and will spend the balance of their vacation visiting in southern Illinois.

Cantaloupe, a product of the institution farms, is being served in the patients' dining rooms. Dr. Murray believing that fruit should form an important part of the patients' diet, has conducted a very successful experiment in melon growing and the melons are greatly enjoyed by both patients and employees.

Large quantities of tomatoes are being canned and stored for winter consumption at the institution.

Miss Jean Murray is expected to return this week from the north where she went seeking relief from hay fever.

The circus Monday afternoon proved a great treat for about 1000 patients.

There were many visitors at the institution Sunday and Monday, parents and relatives coming from a distance to visit their relatives.

The Sunday church services at the institution were largely attended by patients and employees.

Seventy dresses a day are being turned out in the sewing room of the institution. Dr. Murray inaugurated a plan that shows he is always thinking not only of the comfort but the happiness of the patients. Instead of the old fashioned wrapper garments, there are varied styles from which the patients may choose and the patients are also accorded the privilege of selecting both color and material.

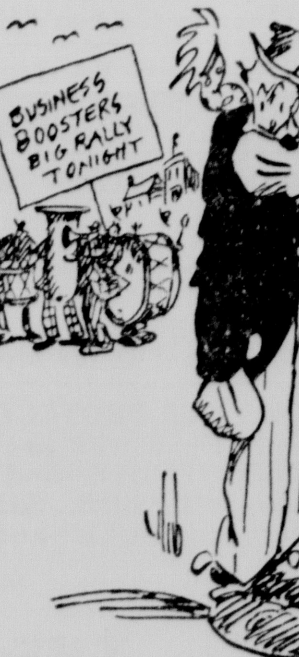

Prof. Herbert Olin and family called upon Dr. and Mrs. Warren G. Murray recently. Prof. Olin is a cousin of Dr. Murray and is professor of chemistry at the Iowa state university at Iowa City.

MONA TOWNSEND, beautiful young widow, inherits her husband's millions with the provision that she must not reveal. Her marriage, arranged by her husband's lawyer, who was Mona's employer, was a strange affair, leaving her free at the end of a year to become her husband's wife. She actually secured a divorce. Mona, in love with her husband's nephew, HARRY TOWNSEND, agreed to the marriage when she thought Harry was lost to her.

She employs LOTTIE CAHILL, a fashion model, as her secretary, and they set out for South America, where Harry and STEVE SACCHARELL are partners in a diamond mine. Mona's brother, BUD, works at the mine. Mona hopes for a reconciliation with Harry. She also feels Harry is entitled to a share of his uncle's fortune and wants to find a way to arrange this legally.

Learning that Harry and Steve are on vacation at Holiday Island, the girls leave their boat at Port of Spain. There they meet Bud who takes them to Holiday Island. Harry and Steve are cordial but their greeting lacks warmth. Mona wishes she had not come. Harry does not ask for explanations and she cannot make them.

MISS GRACIE, middle-aged spinster, comes from Port of Spain to serve as chaperone.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII

FOR all Lottie's artful planning, dinner at Holiday House that evening was singularly unromantic. There were no lovely gowns and there was no lingering over a candlelit table, no strolling in the moonlight. It proved to be the first evening since the girls' arrival that no one dressed for dinner.

Their departure from Grenada was delayed, the carpenters taking a great deal of time to decide finally that they could not begin work on the hangar for at least a week. The motor boat left the harbor two hours later than they had planned. Sam, the native boy, was at the wheel while Barry and Steve spent most of the trip in rather disgruntled discussion.

When they arrived at the house they found the table on the veranda still set for dinner, the flowers drooping under the electric light and fireflies gathering on the terrace. The food in the kitchen had long since cooled and lost its flavor.

"I sent the maids home for the night," Miss Gracie said, unperturbed. "There seemed to be no knowing when you'd come. I thought you might have dined at Grenada."

"Well, we can't leave those carpenters here for a week yet," Steve announced. "I was going to buy this girl a pair of monkeys to take back to New York."

Back to New York! Mona felt her heart throb sharply. Her cheeks suddenly grew cold. Steve and Barry were thinking then of their departure!

"Don't buy those monkeys yet a while," Barry said hastily and Mona sighed, reassured. "We're not going to let Mona and Lottie get away for a long time. They haven't seen half the sights yet."

"Well, they've seen what many a girl in Port of Spain would give her eye teeth to see anyhow," Miss Gracie interposed comfortably.

"What's that, Miss Gracie?" The older woman's fat face crinkled in a smile and her kind eyes were hidden for a moment.

"This house," she nodded vehemently. "Barry and Steve are popular young men, you know. When they come to our house—"

"Did you ever know a girl named Celeste?" asked Mona idly.

Barry and Steve glanced at each other and burst out laughing.

"Let Lottie tell you that one, Barry. I can't do justice."

THEY listened to Lottie's diverting version of the affair on the boat but when she related the gift of Barry's portrait to Celeste the men became instantly sober.

"Great heavens, that practically constitutes an engagement!" Steve exclaimed.

"But she was honest, anyhow. She insisted Barry hadn't paid much attention to her," retorted Lottie.

Steve rose. "Yes, that's honest, only a little too mild. You might as well say a man pays no attention to a mosquito buzzing around him 24 hours of the day."

"I think I'll say good night," Mona decided, rising. "I'm tired, hot and have a headache."

"Anyhow we had a fine trip," Lottie announced, as she rose to follow her friend. "Well, good night!"

As the two girls mounted the stairs Lottie said quietly, "At least Barry doesn't want us to hurry away!"

"Oh, I don't know!" Mona's voice was weary. "He could hardly have said less. Steve practically put us aboard the Miranda."

In her flowing negligee Mona stood before the mirror, brush in hand, her bronze hair floating over her shoulders. For a moment neither girl spoke. The brush plied evenly with long, deft strokes.

Seated on the bed, Lottie swung one foot reflectively and watched her.

She sat up in her huge bed, intent on the amazing stillness of the tropic night.

Mona arose and, walking to the window, drew in great breaths of the sweetened air. Far below, the beach lay white in the moonlight. The sea murmured. She could hear the waves roll in, hesitate, churn, then spill into the whispering foam.

She could hear the tide drag the lost wave back, gather, roll in again. Otherwise the night was so still that she could hear the beating of her own heart.

"I believe I'll go down there for a walk," Mona decided presently. "Perhaps I can think there a little more easily. Perhaps I'll be able to make up my mind what to do." She paused uncertainly. "There is, of course, only one thing to do—and that is go home!"

SWIFTLY and quietly she tossed off her pajamas, dressed in a white skirt, soft yellow sweater and rubber soled shoes. She knew it would be cool on the beach.

The door opened gently and the stairs, fortunately, made no sound beneath her feet. She crept across the wide hall to the door which each night she had learned was left wide open. There were no prowlers to fear on Holiday!

Beneath the stars on the terrace Mona stood for an instant, considering the stillness which held the house in its grip. Then she looked seaward. Far away toward the Grenadines a necklace of yellow lights was flung out on the water. The portlights of the motor boat bobbed in the harbor.

As she moved down the pathway the flamboyant trees flicked her face gently with their fragrance. It did not occur to Mona to be afraid. She gained the sand. Ah, here she could really think! Was it safe to lie on the sand at night or any other time? Of course it was safe! Why not? Anyhow, it was delightful. Mona stretched her slender length along the shelf of rock where the shadows played, her hands beneath her head. This was comfort. This was peace.

Silence and still more silence. All of a sudden Mona felt rather than heard a sound. Someone was near her! She sat upright, tense and alert. It had been foolish to come. Foolhardy and silly beyond words. Who was making that sound? A bird perhaps or the wind?

A shadow separated itself suddenly from a clump of trees and moved toward her. The girl started to scream and found she could not.

CALIFORNIA JOE

HERO of more than one dime novel thriller, nevertheless there once was a real "California Joe." Gen. George A. Custer, for whom he once served as chief of scouts, writes of him in "My Life on the Plains" as follows: "He was known by the euphonious title of 'California Joe'; no other name seemed ever to have been given him and no other name ever seemed necessary." But Custer was wrong, for Joe's real name was Moses E. Milner.

He was born in Kentucky in 1829, ran away from home at the age of fourteen to seek adventure in the West and during the next twenty-five years found plenty of it as a prospector and miner in California, Montana and in the Black Hills of South Dakota; as an Indian fighter and as a scout and guide for army officers during the Indian wars in the sixties and seventies.

Milner got his name of California Joe thus: One day in 1862 when he was riding into Virginia City, Mont., some inquisitive strangers asked him where he was from. Milner, who was an inveterate joker, replied, "From California, where most of the gold is." Next they asked him his name and Milner, resenting their curiosity, told them it was Joe. "All right," they replied, "We'll just call you California Joe, if you are from that state." And that was the name he bore to the day of his death in 1876.

What is Blindness?

Carbondale, Ill., Sept. 6 (AP)—The question of what constitutes blindness, will arise in the hearing of a suit filed today by 18 Jackson county persons who have been on the blind pension list, but who were cut off by the Board of Supervisors as an "economy" measure.

The board held that only the totally blind are entitled to pensions. Each person in the suit asks damages of $500, each declaring that "totally blind" means disabled so far as making a living is concerned, rather than whether the person can determine day from night, as construed by the Board.

Army and Navy Sign Athletic Truce So You'll See This Again!

The greatest show in the collegiate sports world, with colorful pageantry and traditional rivalry as West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen battle, parade and cheer on the football gridiron, is to be resumed this year as the result of agreement between the two academic heads shown above. Rear Admiral Thomas G. Hart, right, of Annapolis, and Major General William D. Connor, left, superintendent of West Point, have resumed athletic relations after a five-year-break over eligibility rules. The scene shows the army cadet corps on the field in a colorful demonstration during the last meeting of the two academies.
